Halcyon Recruitment Cookie Policy

About Cookies

This website uses cookies to provide you with an optimised experience when using our website. A cookie is a small file, typically of letters and numbers, downloaded on to a device when the user accesses certain websites. Cookies allow a website to recognise a user's device. For more information see: http://www.allaboutcookies.org/.

The main purpose of cookies is to streamline your use of our website. Cookies make the interaction between users and websites faster and easier and enable us to identify your device and to enable the functionality of Halcyon Recruitment features, including your ability to log in to your account.

Please note that if you choose to reject cookies, certain parts of this site may not be available to you or may not function properly. You can choose not to receive cookies by changing your browser settings. If you use Halcyon Recruitment's website without changing your browser settings we will assume that you are happy to receive all cookies from our website.

Halcyon Recruitment uses the following cookies:

Strictly necessary cookies
These are cookies that are required for the operation of our site. They include, for example, cookies that enable you to log into secure areas of our site.

Analytical / Performance Cookies
They allow us to recognise and count the number of visitors and to see how visitors move around our site when they are using it. This helps us to improve the way our site works, for example, by ensuring that users are finding what they are looking for easily;

Functionality cookies.
These are used to recognise you when you return to our site. These cookies record your visit to our site, the pages you have visited and the links you have followed. We will use this information to make our site its content more relevant to you.

In addition, we use Google Analytics to monitor our website usage so we can provide a better service. You can opt out of Google Analytics cookies at https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout?hl=en.